

How Resilience is Applied to International Development Challenges: Priorities, Research Gaps, and Opportunities for Thought Leadership

Greg Collins

Deputy Assistant Administrator,
USAID Bureau for Resilience and Food Security

Greg Collins oversees the U.S. Government's global hunger and food security initiative, Feed the Future. In this capacity, he provides strategic direction and implementation of the initiative's agriculture, research, and policy efforts. He has played a lead role in developing and operationalizing the strategic vision for resilience at USAID.

THE UNIVERSITY OF ARIZONA
RESEARCH, INNOVATION & IMPACT

Arizona Institutes
for Resilience

Sponsored by AIR's International Programs
and Research, Innovation & Impact's Office of Global Projects

Wednesday, February 17
2 PM MST

REGISTER ON ZOOM